Enlightened Living

Whatever anyone says, whatever anyone does, whatever one hears or sees (including the biological reactions in the body-mind organism to what one has seen or heard) — whatever is, in the present moment, is precisely what is supposed to be, according to God's Will or Cosmic Law; therefore, it is futile to judge and condemn anyone or anything at any time.

Total acceptance of this concept means enlightenment, and enlightened living means doing whatever one feels one should do in a given situation and thereafter witnessing whatever happens without judging anyone or anything.
